
Waite Campus Childrens Centre Parent Newsletter

September 2008

Please read this newsletter to find out more about:

- ◆ Proposed changes to early childhood services
- ◆ Family Picnic
- ◆ Limited Care?

From the Director

Thank you to all the families who attended our Parent Evening. This was a great support to staff, acknowledging the work and professionalism that they give to children's development programs and individual portfolios.

It is an exciting time to be involved in early childhood services and there is a lot happening in this area across Australia. In the monthly newsletters for the remainder of 2008 I plan to highlight for families some of these changes. I hope this will provide information to families on early development and learning programs and encourage families to reflect on our Centre and the programs we offer.

While much of what is being planned with respect to early childhood will provide a greater focus on the value of early childhood services to our social capital, it is very long overdue. Most early childhood professionals, educators and researchers have known for many, many years that the early years, 0-6 form the foundations to our long term well being; and that early education and care are indivisible. Our society, however, has not valued either parenting or early childhood services; children have always been (and for many this continues) the less visible keys to our future. While society at large has changed and young children are growing up in a very different world to their parents the broader values of society are taking much longer to shift. Society still has an ambivalent attitude to the relation between parenting and employment, and the workplace can be very hostile to parents. Children are growing up with fewer siblings and in smaller extended families. Parenting young children has become a more complex and stressful experience. Despite the clear social and economic value of quality early childhood programs, services have been under-funded and undervalued. Many families are unable to access quality early childhood services at the times they need.

The Federal Government is currently taking some action to redress this, through funding for new and innovative services which will incorporate early childhood services with health and other support agencies; increasing the Child Care Tax Rebate (CCTR) to 50% and planning broad changes to enhance the quality of all early childhood services across Australia. This will include national early years learning and quality frameworks, and developing a seamless system of education and care while ensuring all 4 year olds have access to 15 hours of preschool with a qualified early childhood educator. In the longer term this will see an end to the current session type preschool that dominates in South Australia (though not in other States). Early childhood professionals know that children learn best through developing strong and stable relationships in a consistent environment. Moving children between services within the same day can hinder children's learning and development and may not foster children's wellbeing. What we hope to see in the future is children being able to begin attending an early childhood service and to continue in the same service until they commence school, with additional funding provided to the service when the child turns four. These changes are exciting and positive. If you would like to learn more, make a visit to www.dest.gov.au/sectors/early_childhood. This provides information on all new initiatives from CCTR to the draft National Frameworks.

Family Picnic

This year our annual family picnic in the Rose Garden near Urrbrae House will be on Sunday 19 October from 3 to 6.30 pm. To continue supporting children and families to 'be active' we will have people from Life Be In It running games from 3.30-4.30. This will include a parachute, earth ball, sack races, hoppers, hoops and more. Please register on the Parent Notice Board. This is a great way to meet other families from the Centre while enjoying the beautiful gardens of Urrbrae House.

Welcome to:

the following children and their families who have commenced at our Centre in recent months: Will, Joshua, Queenie, Bella, Yolande, and Alice to Room 1; Sanna, Scarlett, Zara and Alex to Room 2; and Tomas, Liam, Matthew and Alice to Room 3.

Board and PAG Matters 2008

Adelaide University Childcare Services Inc (AUCS) Board has changed its meeting times to the last Monday of the month. The next meeting Monday 29 September.

The Parent Advisory Group (PAG) meets on the third Friday of the month. The next PAG meeting will be Friday 17 October.

Centre closure – limited care?

The dates for the Centre closure are currently set at 1pm Wednesday 24 December until 8 am Monday 12 January. A limited care session will be available in the week 5-9 January, if we have an average of 12-15 children requiring childcare each day for this week. Only one room of the Centre will be open so children will be in a mixed-age group. Expressions of interest in this limited care week must be submitted before October 31st by emailing childcare.waite@adelaide.edu.au. We will then determine if there is a need for this service.

To date we have only received 1 request for care.

Staff news

Kaarin and Dani will be away from the Centre October 3-7 at the Biennial Early Childhood Australia Conference in Canberra presenting a paper on Growing Skills for Sustainable Living in Early Childhood. Please read our story board in the hallway to see some of what happens with this program.

Room 2 staffing will continue with Cassie, Kathy and Yvett as the primary care staff. We are very fortunate to have Martine Karen, Jacqui, Penny and Zhou Wei available as relief staff across the Centre as this supports greater continuity for children when staff are away from the Centre due to professional development or leave.

During the first few weeks of October staff across the Centre will be using accrued TOIL to take an occasional day of leave. Cassie will be on annual leave from October 13-19.

Administration matters

Thank you to all the families who have returned their 'pink' forms. It is extremely important that all the details we have regarding names dates of births etc exactly match Centre link records in order to roll over the new CCMS. If details are not correct families will not receive CCB or CCTR. The new 50% CCTR which is to be paid by Medicare will not be available until after 20 October. Please remember that the payment of this is dependent on Centrelink receiving and processing quarterly (1/6/08-30/9/08) returns from all child care services across Australia. As this is a new payment system patience will be required.

Enrolments and Bookings 2009:

Planning for 2009 shows that we have a young age group of children in Room 3 and only several small groups of children commencing school across the year. We also have an increasing number of siblings to commence in Room 1 which often means increases in care for their older siblings. It is imperative that we have notification of any changes to your childcare needs, whether this be an increase or decrease in days required, so that we can try to accommodate future changes and demand.

Mandarin Immersion Program

At the parent evening we became aware that many families do not know about our Mandarin immersion program in Room 3. In February 2008 WCCC introduced a trial of an additive bilingual (L2) program through language immersion in Mandarin in our 3-5 year age group (Room 3). This is an additive bilingual program because Mandarin is a completely new language to most children. It is an immersion program because during designated periods (currently 9am-12.30pm) of each day the majority of Eunice and Lucy's communication with children is in Mandarin. There is always a staff member who speaks English available to children. This program is unique to WCCC. We are quite confident in saying we are the only early childhood service in Australia to have an additive second language immersion program.

Why language immersion?

- ◆ Every child has the ability to learn additional languages
- ◆ Learning a second language enhances children's reading readiness as it develops their metalinguistic awareness or capacity to use knowledge about language.
- ◆ Young children are intuitive language learners and will learn a second language contextually in the same way that they learn their primary language. That is by hearing it spoken on a regular basis.
- ◆ Bi-lingual children develop a more positive attitude to non-native languages and foreign cultures.

It is important for parents to be aware of this and discuss with their children as second language immersion programs do well when there is support from parents. If you would like more information please speak to myself or one of the Room 3 staff.

Policy Review

Thank you to all the families who responded to our policy review. All policies have now been updated to include relevant changes and editing. This has included some changes to the purpose statement, re wording to either improve clarification or provide a statement about practices that are implemented each day but were not previously included in the relevant policy. Some changes were made to reflect more inclusive language.

A few questions arose during this process that we hope the following clarifies a few of these .

Why shouldn't the PAG exceed 10? There is a wealth of literature about the best size for advisory groups, committees and Boards which shows that when groups are too large they don't work as effectively. As the PAG also includes a staff representative and the Director we have found that a group of 12 people allows for every to participate actively and

If a child bites others frequently it should be reported to the aggressors parent, This is always done and is currently included in our Behaviour Management policy as Procedures for Dealing with Difficult and Challenging Behaviours "If unacceptable behaviour is persistent, staff will work with parents to determine possible causes of the behaviour and encourage positive alternatives."

Some regular staff practices and policies are noted in the Centre Policies and Procedures Handbook and we will continue to review this, especially as we review Staff Policies during October.

Sustainable Futures

Our sustainable future fund is growing. Some of the funds will be used to add to our community water grant. Sustainable Focus is managing this project for us and quotes for the work are due Friday 26 September, with work expected to commence in October. The development of the outdoor classroom and butterfly garden will also be supported by the sustainable futures fund with almost 120 metres of fencing required to enclose the area to the east and south of the centre. We plan to grow some of the plants for this ourselves with seeds sourced from Trees for Life and we are hopeful of receiving a positive response to our application for a small grant to the Grow A Great School program.

Ape it up at Monarto is a Family Fun Day to be held on Sunday October 5th at Monarto Zoo.

Dr Jane Goodall, international conservationist and Chimpanzee expert, and UN Peace envoy will open the new Chimpanzee enclosure on the day. She will talk to children and youth about the Roots and Shoots program she established, which promotes care for animals, the environment and the human community.
