ADF Higher Education Advanced Standing Scheme

ADFHEAS Scheme

What is the ADFHEAS Scheme?

The Scheme offers pathways into specific higher education courses with defined “advanced standing” for Defence provided education, training and development.

Who is it for?

The Scheme is for current, past and Reserve ADF members of all ranks, who meet the entry requirements specified by each participating university for the undergraduate or post graduate qualifications on offer.

Which universities are involved?

Currently we have 25 universities that offer pathways with agreed levels of advanced standing toward a number of their awards. 15 of these universities provide pathways for undergraduate studies *, (eight on line at time of printing ) while all 25 universities offer post graduate pathways.

The amount of advanced standing given does vary from university to university, and from award to award.

Participating universities are:

- Australian Catholic University **
- Australian National University
- Charles Darwin University
- Charles Sturt University **
- CQ University *
- Deakin University *
- Edith Cowan University
- La Trobe University **
