Teaching @ Adelaide
A Guide for new Teaching Staff
University of Adelaide Graduate Attributes

The University of Adelaide is a research-intensive university that seeks to develop graduates of international distinction by providing high quality education. The University defines the philosophy underpinning its teaching programs through the Graduate Attributes. These describe the qualities, knowledge and capabilities that students are encouraged to take responsibility for developing throughout their studies at the University. The Graduate Attributes are not a list of skills to be mastered; rather, they encapsulate for both students and the wider community the defining characteristics of a student’s university degree program(s), and describe a set of characteristics that are designed to be transferable beyond the particular disciplinary context in which they have been developed. While Graduate Attributes are fostered in the context of the curriculum, they are also developed within the total university experience as they encourage students to reflect on the broader purpose of their university education.

The University of Adelaide Graduate Attributes are:

1. Deep discipline knowledge
2. Critical thinking and problem solving
3. Teamwork and communication skills
4. Career and leadership readiness
5. Intercultural and ethical competency

Mission

The University of Adelaide draws strength from its founding values as it fulfils its future research and teaching aspirations.

The University is an international institution that distinctively embraces the ideal of the research university, where the excitement, vitality and passion of the search for new knowledge is one in which all students participate; as an enlightened and tolerant community where able students can find support, whatever their background or circumstances; and as a place where the Kaurna people, original custodians of the land on which the campuses now rest, are acknowledged and their culture respected.

Our Distinctive Features

• A student body of democratic breadth
• A staff of international distinction
• A spirit of freedom to investigate new fields
• A sense of importance to the community
• A goal to prepare educated leaders.

The University of Adelaide commits to a distinctive approach that recaptures the ideal of the research university, and seeks an internationally-focused staff and a tolerant, progressive student mix, which will prepare students for global citizenship in an increasingly borderless world. It will be a university true to its historical roots, yet passionately committed to its role in producing graduates designed to play leading parts in the Asian Century.

Structure of the University

http://www.adelaide.edu.au/governance/orgcharts/

Deputy Vice-Chancellor & Vice-President (Academic) - DVC&VP(A)

http://www.adelaide.edu.au/learning/

The DVC&VP(A) provides leadership in achieving the University's strategic goals in relation to learning and teaching, including the provision of quality student experience across the University and the ongoing professional development of University staff.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor & Vice-President (Research) - DVC&VP(R)

http://www.adelaide.edu.au/research/

The DVC&VP(R) provides leadership in achieving the University’s strategic goals in relation to research and research training policy across the University.
Teaching Excellence

Pro Vice-Chancellor (Student Learning) - PVC(SL)

The Pro Vice-Chancellor (Student Learning) provides strategic direction and leadership to the University of Adelaide as it continues to pursue its goal of excellence in education. Key to this goal is delivering an integrated, high-quality learning experience for each student, which encompasses all aspects of University life.

Associate Deans (Learning & Teaching)

The Associate Dean reports to the Executive Dean. The role contributes to the learning and teaching within the faculty in accordance with the University’s and faculty’s strategic plans.

Stephen Cole the Elder Fellowships

Fellows are responsible for providing leadership in relation to teaching practice and professional development within their faculty, particularly in the area of e-learning.

Student e-Experience

Developed through extensive consultation with students and staff of the University, the SeE vision is ‘to establish a connected learning community in the online environment, where future and current students as well as graduates can stay connected and source the information and services they need in a simple, integrated and intuitive way’.

Teaching Awards & Grants

Recognising the important role that awards and grants play in the development and recognition of teaching excellence, the University offers a comprehensive program of internal awards, and encourages staff in their applications for awards and grants available from the national Office for Learning and Teaching (OLT).

The Teaching Awards and Grants Officer (ashleigh.ward@adelaide.edu.au), in association with the Teaching Awards and Grants Working Group, provides a comprehensive advisory service relating to the development of award applications and grant proposals.

The website contains information about the awards and grants, examples of successful applications, contact information and information to assist you in preparing an award or grant application.

Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes describe what students will know and be able to do upon successful completion of a program or course.

Program learning outcomes are pivotal statements in the design and delivery of educational programs; they focus on the end-point of the program, are framed at a high level of generalisation and are the foundation for the development and design of the award through its component courses.

Course Learning Outcomes are part of the University’s contract with students with respect to their achievement in a course. They are the basis for all learning activity in a course and they construct very specific expectations for students about what they will learn and what will be assessed. They are not a description of the course or a summary of the teaching activity. The focus is on specifying student outcomes and evidencing their achievement through assessment.

The Guide to Writing Learning Outcomes website provides information on:
- Writing effective learning outcomes at both program and course level
- Bloom’s Taxonomy
- TEQSA and AQF Requirements
- Discipline Standards in Australia

The Learning Technologies team’s focus is on pedagogical support for MyUni, and on improving the usefulness and relevance of MyUni for the University of Adelaide.

Learning Technologies undertakes projects and initiatives to ensure the online learning environment at the University of Adelaide—MyUni and associated educational technologies—meets the current and future needs of our students and staff and supports the University’s strategic plan. In addition, the team provides e-Learning Advisers to support each faculty’s Associate Dean (Learning & Teaching) or equivalent, to work on the online learning priorities of their faculty (60% FTE per Faculty).

Areas of expertise include: use of MyUni in teaching and learning (and implementation of the Guidelines for Minimum Use of MyUni); online learning and teaching pedagogy and good practice tips; using online technologies to support assessment; evaluation of online learning; and management of technological innovations in learning and teaching.

MyUni Training

http://www.adelaide.edu.au/technology/training/online/myuni/

MyUni training courses are updated regularly to reflect the new features available in MyUni. Sessions are scheduled throughout the year over a variety of days and times. There are currently 12 different courses offered, including Articulate Storyline 2.

The University offers a variety of services to students. See the website for a complete list.

Academic Learning Support

Writing Centre

Level 3 East, Hub Central, North Terrace Campus
Phone 831 33021 email writingcentre@adelaide.edu.au
http://www.adelaide.edu.au/writingcentre/
Mon – Fri: 10.00 am – 4.00 pm, no appointments required

Students can drop in to the Writing Centre for practical advice and strategies to master reading, writing, note-taking and referencing techniques. They can visit at any stage in their writing, and are encouraged to visit as soon as they have queries, including before they have a finished draft, or if they need help getting started. Writing Centre staff will not edit or proofread students’ work for them, but will assist students to learn how to do this independently. Writing Centre staff also are not able to comment on the subject-specific content of students’ assignments, but can provide them with ways to make their writing more coherent.

The Writing Centre website provides access to:
- learning guides
- referencing guides
- information about plagiarism
- additional academic learning resources, including interactive online resources.

EndNote assistance - weekly drop-in

The University Library has a weekly drop-in session in the Writing Centre to help students with EndNote, software for storing and managing bibliographic references.

Maths Learning Centre (MLC)

Level 3 East, Hub Central, North Terrace Campus
Phone 831 35862 email mathslearning@adelaide.edu.au
http://www.adelaide.edu.au/mathslearning/
Mon – Fri: 10.00 am – 4.00 pm, no appointments required

The Maths Learning Centre exists to help all students at the University of Adelaide succeed in learning and using the maths (and statistics) they need for university study, regardless of whether they are studying a formal maths course or not. MLC staff can help students locate appropriate learning resources, fill in school-level mathematical assumed knowledge, improve their mathematical communication skills, and learn to solve problems independently.

The Maths Learning Centre provides access to additional resources including:
- seminars and workshops
- print and online resources
- maths bridging courses.

Teaching staff, working together with the MLC, can help students succeed where they meet mathematical concepts in their courses. The MLC can discuss students’ needs, provide strategies to support their learning, create resources and workshops for students, and develop training for staff.
First Year Experience

The First Year Experience website has been developed to provide information and resources to help students adjust to uni life.

Supporting Teaching Quality and Compliance

Legislative Requirements

Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA)

UoA TEQSA information

The Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency Act 2011 established the TEQSA agency. TEQSA regulates the quality of the Australian higher education system including public and private universities, Australian branches of overseas universities, and other higher education providers. Regulatory principles aim to protect and enhance Australia’s reputation for nationally consistent quality higher education and excellence, protect students and ensure they have access to information relating to higher education, and encourage a higher education system that is appropriate to meet Australia’s social and economic needs.

TEQSA registers and evaluates the performance of higher education providers against the Higher Education Standards Framework 2015 ‘Threshold Standards’, which all providers must meet in order to enter and remain within Australia’s higher education system. TEQSA is responsible for the registration and re-registration of providers, and the accreditation and re-accreditation of programs.

Educational Services for Overseas Students (ESOS) Act 2000

UoA ESOS information
For general ESOS advice contact Learning and Quality Support - lqs@adelaide.edu.au

The ESOS Act (2000) is also administered by TEQSA and provides legislative requirements and standards for the quality assurance of education and training institutions offering programs to international students. For the purpose of ESOS an international student is defined as any student studying in Australia on a student visa (only). The University must undergo an external audit every 5 years with respect to demonstrating compliance with ESOS and the National Code. All University staff members, including teaching staff, must be familiar with ESOS and are responsible for ensuring their actions comply with ESOS legislation. If the University is found to be in breach of the legislation, it risks fines, deregistration and limits on its international student intake.

The National Code 2007

The National Code (2007) is established under the ESOS Act and describes 15 nationally consistent standards that all education providers and staff must be familiar with and adhere to when delivering programs to international students. International students considered under ESOS and the National Code will hold a Confirmation of Enrolment (CoE) attached to a student visa. Student visas outline a student’s individual responsibility and obligations while studying in Australia. When teaching international students additional considerations should be given with regard to the delivery of programs and courses as well as general student administration and advice. Enquiries relating to or from international students should be referred to the International Student Support in the first instance.
Learning and Quality Support (LQS)

The Learning & Quality Support (LQS) unit operates within the Division of the DVC&VP(A), providing support to the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Student Learning). The unit facilitates and oversees the University’s learning and quality assurance support processes, maintaining a robust system for quality assurance and educational compliance and providing support to the academic community to enhance the quality and status of learning and teaching in the University.

Areas of Human Resources that may be of particular interest and support to teaching staff:

Health, Safety and Wellbeing (HSW)

The University's HSW team provides support to the University community on all safety, injury management and wellbeing issues. They can provide help and advice on your HSW responsibilities and duty of care requirements in your role as a member of the teaching staff.

Performance and Development

Performance and Development work with the University community to build capability of our people in support of an excellent student experience and enable all staff to be and perform at their best. We do this by assisting new staff in their induction, developing leadership and management capability, leading activities toward greater gender equity and supporting performance development.

Planning, Development & Review (PDR)

The PDR process provides mechanisms for aligning goals and objectives and for planning the resources and development required for this. All staff on continuing and fixed term contracts greater than 12 months are required to participate in the PDR program. The Performance and Development team provide PDR training for managers.

Academic Promotions

The Academic Promotions process is an important way that the University recognises the outstanding performance of Academic Staff. Staff who believe they meet the relevant promotion criteria should visit the website to obtain further information on how to apply. Members of the Human Resources Branch will also be available to provide advice on policy, process and equity related questions.
