

FACULTY OF THE PROFESSIONS GRADUATE ATTRIBUTES

Graduate Certificate in Economics
Graduate Certificate in International Economics

Program Objectives

To provide students with analytical and econometric skills that will provide an understanding of economic policy issues for holders of a Bachelors degree in a field other than economics.

Graduate attributes

Explain and evaluate the use of economic theory and basic econometric methods in the analysis of economic policies contained in government publications by the Central Bank, Departments of Treasury and Finance or the ACCC and other similar regulatory bodies.

Generic Skills

- 1) The ability to interpret the results of an econometric analysis of economic data
- 2) Apply the analytical skills obtained to provide precise written and oral reports