

KATHY PONTT

Kathy studied at the University of Adelaide and completed a Bachelor of Arts, Majoring in Psychology (Honours). Following her studies, Kathy gained employment with the University, in the Department of Public Health. She was initially employed as a data analyst, moving on to work as a study coordinator (based in the Women's and Children's Hospital). She currently works as a research officer, at the Australian Bureau of Statistics.