

SOPHIA KATARI

Sophia graduated in 1995 from Adelaide University, with B.Sc (double major in Psychology). She began teaching English as a Second Language to female Muslim migrants in 2002 through the Muslim Women's Association. Through this work she recognised the need to provide more services to the community. She has since formed three Support Groups, tailored to suit individual student needs, to assimilate and accommodate students into wider Australian community.