NHMRC Forum with Warrick Anderson

The NHMRC will be in Adelaide on 1 November 2007 to hold a Forum to outline current activities within NHMRC and to discuss issues and concerns within the research community.

The Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research Strategy), Professor Mike Brooks will introduce Professor Warwick Anderson CEO of the National Health and Medical Research Council. The Forum is open to health and medical researchers, research administration officers and other interested people to give the opportunity to raise questions directly with the NHMRC CEO.

The Forum will commence at 2-00pm in the Florey Lecture Theatre located at N103 in Medical School North and is expected to conclude by 4-00pm.

Ethics - Last 2007 Submission Dates

The ethics committees each have only one more submission date in 2007:

7 November - Human Research Ethics Committee,

12 November - Animal Ethics Committee

29 November - Institutional Biosafety Committee

If you miss these deadlines, you will need to wait until late January/early February 2008 to apply for your ethics clearances. Forms and information at <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/ethics/>

NHMRC Australia-China Fellowship

The aims of this Exchange Fellowship scheme are to increase collaboration between Australian and Chinese health and medical research by supporting research exchange between the two countries.

Further details can be found here:

Funding Opportunities

The Funding Opportunities page on the Research Branch website provides access to all ARC and NHMRC opportunities as well as the rural and natural resources R&D corporations. In addition, you can also access the myriad of other funding opportunities available in the Current List of Funding Opportunities and the Comprehensive List of Funding Opportunities. Also, you might like to look further at the funding opportunity databases listed such as SPIN or Grants.Gov.

New Australian Code for the Responsible Conduct of Research

The NHMRC, in partnership with the Australian Research Council and Universities Australia, and through extensive public consultation, has developed the Australian Code for the Responsible Conduct of Research. The Code replaces the Joint NHMRC/AVCC Statement and Guidelines on Research Practice (1997).

The Code advocates and describes best practice in research for researchers and institutions, as well as setting out a framework for handling breaches of the Code. While the document is aimed at universities and researchers in the public sector, it can be applied by any organisation involved in conducting research.

The Code provides advice on how to manage research data and materials; how to publish and disseminate research findings (including proper attribution of authorship); obligations in peer review; how to collaborate across institutions; and how to manage conflicts of interest. The Code also provides guidance to institutions when establishing independent external inquiries to evaluate allegations of serious misconduct.

The Code is written specifically for universities and other public sector research institutions and is also intended to inform the public about the standards expected of Australian research institutes and individual researchers.

Compliance with the Code is a prerequisite for National Health and Medical Research Council funding. Researchers are encouraged to acquaint themselves with, and meet, the requirements of the new Code as soon as possible.

The new code can be found here

<http://www.nhmrc.gov.au/publications/synopses/r39syn.htm>

A summary of the new code can be found here

http://www.nhmrc.gov.au/publications/synopses/r39syn_summary.htm

Any questions concerning the introduction of the new Code should be directed to the Research Branch (simon.brennan@adelaide.edu.au) in the first instance.

2007 University of Adelaide DEST HERDC Publications Collection arrangements.

Academics, Students and University of Adelaide Affiliates are reminded that their publications for 2007 can be submitted to their School's publication coordinator.

The deadline for submission of publications to the Research Branch is 31 March 2008.

The process for the 2007 DEST Higher Education Research Data Collection of publications has undergone changes aimed at simplifying the processes in the disciplines and schools. Support material is located at <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/rb/pub/>.

The objective of this annual collection is to

- comply with the requirements of the Department of Education, Science and Training (DEST) Higher Education Research Data Collection (HERDC)
- provide data for Strategy and Planning
<http://www.adelaide.edu.au/sp/statistics/research/>
- provide data for research committees and research management
- provide references for the University of Adelaide's repository to provide access to the public via the internet to the University of Adelaide's research publications

The collection is used by the Group of 8 Universities for comparative analysis of research performance.

The University's publication performance in the DEST Higher Education Research Data Collection (HERDC) in 2006 increased from 1550.3 to 1674.0 an increase of 8% or 124 DEST points. 2006 University of Adelaide DEST HERDC Publications are available for the Research Branch Website <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/rb/pub/Pub2006.html>. The publications are presented by School / Discipline within Faculties and provides a bibliographic listing of publications that were included in the Higher Education Research Data Collection

Australia Fellowships Round Three

- The Australia Fellowship (AF) is a pre-eminent award for outstanding health and medical researchers across all disciplines. Each Fellowship is worth a total value of $4 million. The second round of AF awards was announced by the Prime Minister in September.
- AF Round Three will commence early in 2008, and will be advertised later this year through the usual channels. Leading researchers with a vision for the benefit of Australian health and medical research are encouraged to apply. International researchers are also eligible, provided they meet certain conditions.
- We urge all research institutions and researchers to encourage your international friends who are leading researchers, whether Australian or not, to begin to plan applications now. We are looking for leaders in research excellence in any field relevant to health, with a vision for the future and demonstrated capacity to achieve visionary plans. An Australian passport is not a prerequisite.

Round opens

More information about the Australia Fellowships scheme can be found at: <http://www.nhmrc.gov.au/fellows/apply/granttype/career/index.htm>

as well as the Research Branch: <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/rb/arc/FedFell.html>

Upcoming Korea Exchange Program

The Australia-Korea Foundation (AKF), the Australian Academy of Science (AAS) and the Australian Academy of Technological Sciences and Engineering (ATSE) wish to enhance Australia-Korea links in science and technology. The aim of the program is to develop an awareness of, and interest in Australia's research expertise in Korea; and an awareness of, and interest in, Korea's research expertise in Australia.

In the next month or so AAS and ATSE will be advertising for young Australian scientists to participate in an exchange visit to Korea during mid 2008.

The Australian Academy of Technological Sciences and Engineering (ATSE) web site is here.

Call for expressions of Interest for Seminar on Low Emission Technology.

On 27 November 2007 the Australian Embassy in Berlin will host a seminar on low emissions technology (with a focus on clean coal). The Australian CRC for CO₂ as well as German politicians and industry representatives will attend.

All expressions of interest should be directed to dvcr@adelaide.edu.au

International Water Research Workshop

The German Research Foundation (DFG) will host an international water research workshop on 2-3 June 2008 in Berlin. It will involve researchers from the US, Canada, Germany and the Netherlands. The DFG would like to invite Australian participation if we have some relevant experience in this field. They are specifically looking for experience of networks in the field of water research. More information about this event will be forthcoming at the end of October

All expressions of interest should be directed to dvcr@adelaide.edu.au

BHP Billiton Corporate Programs - Community Foundations

Where BHP Billiton's presence in a country is significant, we often provide support for provincial or national programs in addition to local activities. In many of these instances, community foundations have been established. These foundations include external representation, often a community representative, to ensure a full understanding of the community's needs and an ability to identify appropriate projects to address the issues.

Closing date is Thursday November 25.
