Invitation to attend Harmonisation of Multi-centre Ethical Review stakeholder briefings

The National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) is pleased to invite stakeholders from public and non-public sector organisations to attend an update on the Harmonisation of Multi-centre Ethical Review (HoMER) project.

All interested researchers, HREC members, administrators of research governance and research ethics offices, institutional decision-makers, government officers and community members are encouraged to attend.

The briefing will cover:

The national scheme for certification of ethical review processes.

Roles and responsibilities for key stakeholders in the national approach to streamlined ethical review of multi-centre health and medical research.

Timeframes for implementing national processes.

National tools to assist researchers and institutions utilise a single ethical review outcome for multi-centre studies.
