

Registering your existing ORCID

Introduction

ORCID stands for Open Researcher and Contributor ID. It is a persistent digital identifier that distinguishes you from every other researcher, throughout your career.

The University require current and new Academic staff and Higher Degree by Research students to obtain an ID for linking to various University research systems.

Follow this guide to register your existing ORCID with the University of Adelaide.

n.b. You do not need to follow this guide if you already followed "Signing up for an ORCID".

Procedure

1. To register for an ORCID, please go to <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/orcid/>
2. Select Signup or register my ORCID

3. At the University login screen, enter your staff login details

4. Select "I have an ORCID ID"

5. The following screen will appear where you can select your correct ORCID. If the correct one does not appear, you can continue to register a new one.

6. After selecting the correct ORCID, use the Personal Account tab to sign in to ORCID, and select Authorize.
