Exporting Publication Data

Aurora gives you the option to export publication data in a variety of formats including word, PDF, CSV (Excel), BibTex (format used on Google Scholar) and Reference Manager/ EndNote.

These exports can be useful for printing, grant or promotion applications, CV's, imports into other systems and other documents.
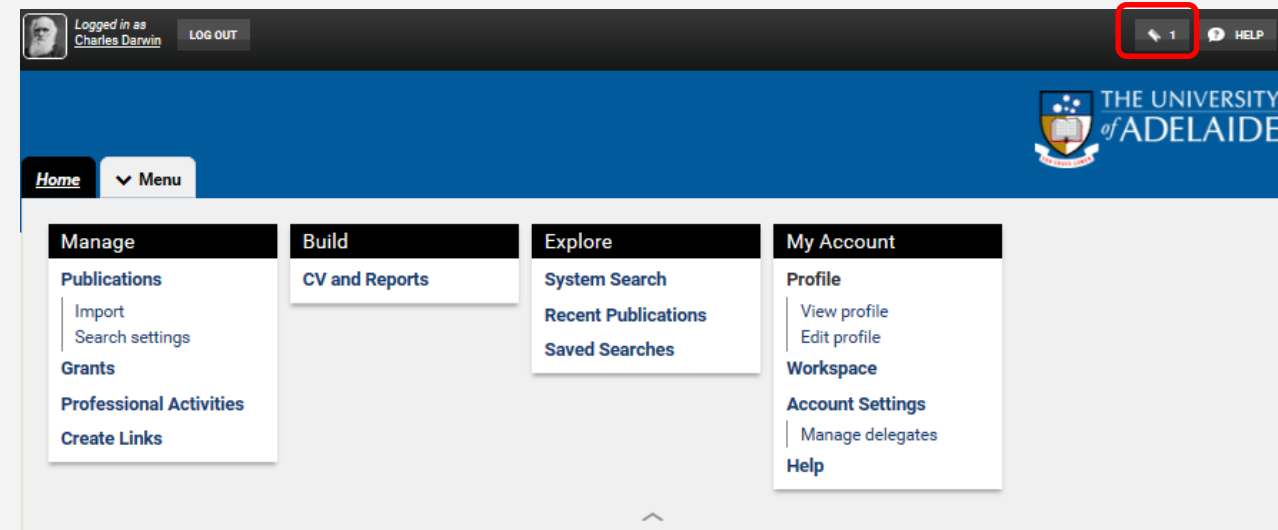

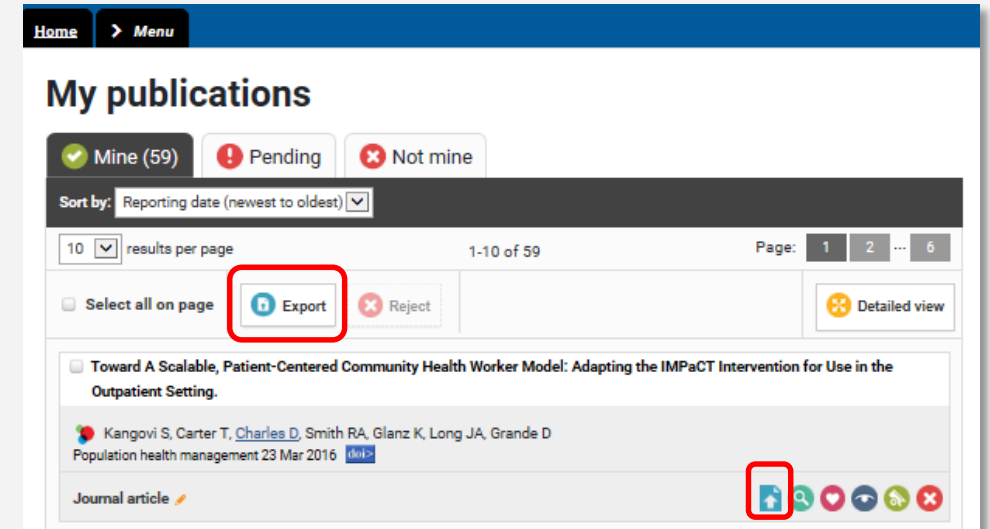

You can export your publications data from a range of places in Aurora.

- My Publications. Select a subset or all publications, then select Export. Chose your preferred export format.
- Workspace. By placing individual publications in the Workspace you can then export a custom list.

On each of these areas, simply select Export and the publications data will be compiled into the chosen format for opening or saving to your computer.

Note: PDF and Word documents will present publications in the APA-6 citation style.
