New Research Studies Code

The course description provided at enrolment is used to determine the allocation of the EFTSU load to discipline(s). The EFTSU load is distributed on the basis of the 30 June or 31 December reporting figures therefore, any changes in course description during the course of a candidature should be recorded on this form and the form lodged with the Graduate Centre before this date.

Students may not be enrolled in more than one research subject in one semester; therefore course changes can only take place from the beginning of a semester i.e. 1 January or 1 July.

See <http://www.adelaide.edu.au/graduatecentre/forms/> to check available course descriptions. If none of the available course descriptions are appropriate the Head of the Discipline in which the student is enrolled must indicate the required course description.
