Completion Scholarships are supported by University of Adelaide research scholarship funding and are designed to encourage timely PhD completions.

The University of Adelaide Completion Scholarships provide a living allowance for up to a maximum of 6 months at the Australian Government Research Training Program Scholarship (RTP) rate (pro rata). They are available to Australian Citizens or Permanent Residents undertaking a PhD who have not previously been in receipt of scholarship funding. In special circumstances, and at the discretion of the Dean of Graduate Studies completion scholarships may also be available to International students who have not previously been in receipt of scholarship funding.

This is a reimbursement scheme, whereby payment of the living allowance is made in the first instance from Faculty / School / Discipline accounts, with the full amount paid being reimbursed from central funds following the successful submission of the recipient's thesis within the stipulated time. If the thesis is not submitted within one month of the completion scholarship expiry date, no reimbursement from central scholarship funds will be made.

Funds will only be given to nominated candidates who have not previously received scholarship support.

Completion Scholarships are not to be viewed as an extension of a current scholarship and priority will be given to nominations for funding periods of less than the maximum of 6 months.

Recipients of Completion Scholarships are required to give at least three months notice of intention to submit using the Notice of Intention to Submit form. This form can be downloaded from the Adelaide Graduate Centre website: http://www.adelaide.edu.au/graduatecentre/forms/thesis/submission-notification/
