WELCOME

On behalf of the local organising committee, session chairs and plenary speakers it is my pleasure to invite you to the 15th International Workshop on Plant Membrane Biology. We have been busy planning during the past 2 years and we are now pleased to open registration for the conference.

Held triennially, IWPMB is the premier international conference for all those interested in processes related to plant membranes. Over the last 45 years, IWPMB has provided a forum for healthy scientific discussion and the exchange of ideas, for the leaders in the field through to new postgraduate students. Whilst presenting their own latest findings, our plenary speakers will also provide a brief overview of recent advances in their particular field of research. Therefore, delegates are encouraged to submit abstracts relating to unpublished work and these will be given priority for oral presentation.

If you have previously been to an IWPMB, you will be familiar both with the workshop sessions which highlight technical advances and with some of the themes of the conference sessions. This year, however, and in partnership with the Australian Centre for Plant Functional Genomics, we have taken the opportunity to add a new day at no extra cost to delegates attending the remainder of the conference. During this day we will highlight the very real applied outcomes made possible by recent fundamental advances in nutrient-use-efficiency (NUE). The NUE day will be available to those day registrants who are not attending the rest of the conference.

It is intended that this brochure and accompanying website (www.adelaide.edu.au/iwpm2010) will provide you with all the information you will need in preparation for attending the workshop. Registration has now opened so, should you have any queries please contact us by email (iwpm2010@adelaide.edu.au) and we will be able to respond within 24 hours.

We very much look forward to welcoming you to South Australia for IWPMB2010. Whilst you are here we also hope that you will take some time to explore and enjoy much of what this beautiful state and country has to offer.

Best regards,

Dr Matt Gilliam

General information

Adelaide, South Australia

Adelaide is a compact city bordered by beautiful parklands. Known as the city of food and wine, Adelaide offers the buzz, culture and convenience of a big city without the frustrations. Seriously good coffee and food are readily available and the Mediterranean climate encourages a relaxed and indulgent lifestyle. This is a city of cafes, restaurants, pubs, fine food and wine.

Twenty minutes drive from the Adelaide GPO are the Adelaide Hills and the vineyards of McLaren Vale, where you can sample fresh, organic produce, experience the changing seasons and enjoy the panoramic views of the hillsides draped with steep vineyards and orchards. And only an hour's drive brings you to the Barossa Valley, home of some of Australia's finest wines. Discover this region's heritage in local restaurants, over 60 cellar doors, galleries and other attractions. Continue your journey slightly further afield to visit South Australia's other major wine regions - the Clare Valley, the Coonawarra and the Limestone Coast.

The Fleurieu Peninsula sweeps south from Adelaide. This is good wine country with over 60 cellar doors, restaurants and produce outlets. There are well signed conservation parks, and the coastline offers vast beaches for walking, surfing and swimming. From Cape Jervis you can catch the ferry to Kangaroo Island, one of the world's last unspoilt wildernesses. One third of the island is conserved in national and conservation parks. With 450 kilometres of spectacular coastlines, the island offers rugged and spectacular coastal scenery, secluded beaches, and an abundance of wildlife.

Venue

The National Wine Centre is an architectural treat but what it holds inside is the real attraction. Situated on the edge of Adelaide's stunning botanic gardens it is a combination of eye-catching architecture and smooth functionality. The Centre is also an exciting tourism venue which showcases the entire Australian wine industry.

Climate

Late September is spring for Adelaide, with conditions similar to those of early autumn in central Europe. The mean maximum daily temperature for this time of year in South Australia is around 22°C, the minimum temperature around 10°C during the night. However, it is possible that temperatures may exceed 30°C during the day. Sunshine hours per day are, on average, 7.5 hours. September-October rainfall is around 50 mm for the month. Humidity should be around 50% so, whatever the temperature, it is not uncomfortable.

We advise that you check the forecast on www.bom.gov.au a week before you travel.
