U TR2.17 - THE RANSON MORTLOCK TRUST

Background –

A. The Ranson Mortlock Trust was established in 1936 in memory of the late Frederick Ranson Mortlock. The Mortlock family were involved in pastoral activities which commenced soon after the arrival of William Ranson Mortlock (Frederick’s grandfather) in South Australia in 1843. Rosina Forsyth Mortlock, the late Frederick Ranson Mortlock’s mother, and his brother John Andrew Tennant Mortlock (‘donors’), contributed the £25,000 donation to the University which was subject to the following conditions:

1. The gift to be known as the “Ranson Mortlock Trust” for “Research Work in connection with Soil Erosion and the Regeneration of Pastures on Pastoral Lands.”
2. A suitable building to be erected at the Waite Institute for the purposes of the Trust, such building to cost not less than £10,000 and to be named the “Ranson Mortlock Building”.

B. The University accepted the donation upon the trusts specified by the donors and the donation therefore became the capital subject to those trusts (‘capital sum’).

C. On 19 May 1937 the foundation stone was laid for the Ranson Mortlock Laboratories (today part of the Main Waite Building). This wing of the iconic Waite building was made possible thanks to this generous gift.

D. The Ranson Mortlock Trust supports Honours scholarships for full-time students undertaking research projects relevant to soil erosion and the regeneration of pastures on pastoral lands.

E. John Andrew Tennant Mortlock and his wife Dorothy Mortlock were generous philanthropists who also made other significant donations and bequests to the University as set out in UTR2.29, UTR2.39, UTR2.105 and UTR2.106.

Name of the fund

1. The capital sum, all income arising from the capital sum and any accumulations and additions thereto together form a fund called the ‘Ranson Mortlock Trust’ (‘fund’).

Investment of the fund

2. The fund is to be amalgamated for the purposes of investment, and held in a common fund, and the net income earned by the common fund shall be credited, rateably, to the funds so amalgamated and thereafter distributed according to the trusts specified by the donors.

Obligations

3. In administering the fund, the University must adhere to the terms specified and is obliged:-
