Investigate, practice, and grow your leadership skills

There's a huge difference between knowing what it means to be a good leader—and being a good leader.

This program provides a supportive environment to not just learn about leadership, but investigate, practice, and grow your skills. As well as face-to-face masterclasses, virtual coaching sessions, and a framework of accountability, you'll receive a diagnostic report to help you understand your leadership style, strengths, and areas for improvement. You'll connect with and learn from successful leaders—each with their own diverse lived experiences—and leave ready to inspire and elevate high-performing teams.

Your subject matter expert

Martin Brooker

Martin Brooker is a former Navy Commodore with more than 30 years of service, including command at sea, and operational service in the Middle East, Afghanistan, and the Pacific. During his service, he was Program Director for the Navy's biggest change program, New Generation Navy. As Principal Advisor to the Chief of Navy, Martin's remit encompassed program implementation, leadership development, coaching and mentoring programs, HR system management, and culture change projects.

On leaving full-time service, Martin brought his passion for people-leading-people together with well-honed strategic acumen. He now works alongside individuals and organisations looking to realise and optimise their potential. Martin believes the challenge for today's leaders sits firmly with navigating complex environments and addressing the unspoken gap between knowing and doing.
