OVERVIEW

The University of Adelaide aims to create and engender a University culture that values health, safety and wellbeing as fundamental components of the work environment, supported by safe systems of work, appropriate governance, training, management structures and operational strategies.

SCOPE AND APPLICATION

This policy applies to all persons who undertake University of Adelaide related activities and/or are employed or engaged by the University or affiliated with the University in any capacity as a worker or an officer as defined under the Work Health and Safety (WHS) Act 2012 (SA).

For the purpose of this Policy:

- a) WHS refers to workplace health and safety in the context of the WHS Act 2012 (SA) and Regulations and more broadly in the context of safety legislation in Australia.
- b) HSW is a University of Adelaide term that incorporates injury management (i.e. workers compensation and rehabilitation) under the wellbeing component of the HSW framework and systems.

Controlled Entities of the University are required to develop and implement WHS policies and processes which are relevant to the entity. Where appropriate, the processes of the University within the HSW Handbook may be adopted, providing the roles/responsibilities and how they are integrated with the University are defined. The Controlled Entity is responsible for ensuring implementation and compliance and meeting officer and worker responsibilities as defined within the WHS Legislation.

POLICY PRINCIPLES

1. The University aims to integrate HSW into mainstream management systems and align HSW activities with the University's mission, vision, values and strategic objectives.
2. The University aims to minimise the risk of injury and illness to its workers and other persons by adopting a planned and systematic approach to the management of HSW including the identification, assessment and control of hazards.
3. The University will monitor, measure, and evaluate HSW activities and performance, to ensure these are not only effective but are also continually improved.
4. The University will communicate and consult with workers and key stakeholders and encourage their contribution to the decision-making processes affecting the HSW of all persons at the University.

5. The University will utilise appropriate internal and/or external expertise when required in all HSW activities.
6. The University aims to have in place a Health and Safety Management framework and system which meets relevant legislation; the Return to Work SA “Code of Conduct for Self-insured Employers”; and related University policies and procedures.
7. The University recognises that its employees are its most valuable resource and will ensure that should a work related injury occur, equitable claims management practices and effective rehabilitation services will be provided, with the aim of full recovery and a safe and sustainable return to work.
8. The University will identify and define responsibilities and accountabilities for all relevant workers and stakeholders in HSW procedures as contained in the Handbook.
9. The consequences of non-compliance with this policy and the HSW Handbook may be:
 - a) addressed through the University’s disciplinary procedures;
 - b) subject to sanctions by a regulator under the relevant legislation;
 - c) that the breach is recorded on the University’s Legal Compliance Register.

DEFINITIONS

DFAT – Australian Government - Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade

Officer [WHS Act 2012 (SA) – Corporations Act 2001 (Cth)]

An officer is a person who makes decisions or participates in making decisions that affect the whole or a substantial part of a business or undertaking and has the capacity to significantly affect the financial standing of the business or undertaking. If a person is responsible only for implementing those decisions, they are not considered an officer.

Reasonably practicable

That which is, or was at a particular time, reasonably able to be done to ensure health and safety, taking into account and weighing up all relevant matters including:

- the likelihood of the hazard or the risk concerned occurring;
- the degree of harm that might result from the hazard or the risk;
- what the person concerned knows, or ought reasonably to know, about the hazard or risk, and ways of eliminating or minimising the risk;
- the availability and suitability of ways to eliminate or minimise the risk;
- after assessing the extent of the risk and the available ways of eliminating or minimising the risk, the cost associated with available ways of eliminating or minimising the risk, including whether the cost is grossly disproportionate to the risk.

Supervisor

In the context of the University, supervisor has two meanings:

1. the line manager of a staff member or the principal supervisor of a higher degree research student. The responsibility of this type of supervisor is captured in Section 2(6) and should be read in relation to all activity other than where there the worker's activity is supervised by someone as described in the second meaning below.
2. any other individual who (separate to the line manager/principal supervisor) has control of a laboratory, clinic, workshop, field activity or other activity in which the worker is participating or working. For example, a workshop manager who has control of what is undertaken and/or who determines which workers may/may not work within the workshop they control. These supervisors also have the responsibility captured in Section 2(6) for the activities under their control. (Note: Control means that these individuals have the right to deny access to or stop any activity until they are satisfied that the activity can occur safely.)

Worker [WHS Act 2012 (SA)]

A person is a worker if the person carries out work in any capacity for a person conducting a business or undertaking, including work as –

- (a) an employee; or
- (b) a contractor or subcontractor; or
- (c) an employee of a contractor or subcontractor; or
- (d) an employee of a labour hire company who has been assigned to work in the person's business or undertaking; or
- (e) an outworker; or
- (f) an apprentice or trainee; or
- (g) a student gaining work experience; or
- (h) a volunteer; or
- (i) a person of a prescribed class.

The person conducting the business or undertaking is also a worker if the person is an individual who carries out work in that business or undertaking.
