OVERVIEW

University of Adelaide staff and honorary titleholders are creative, curious, ambitious and enterprising people of diverse cultural, social and academic backgrounds, who work together collaboratively and are united by the University's shared values.

Staff at the University of Adelaide contribute to cutting edge research, excellence in education and leadership and support the activities of a high performing, world class university.

To thrive the University must create and sustain a culture that encourages enquiry, facilitates participation, and celebrates success. We aspire to such a culture, secure and united in our shared values. A culture where staff and honorary titleholders perform at their best, not only because it is expected of them, but because it is what they want to do.

The Code of Conduct expresses the expectations of staff and honorary titleholders when undertaking activities in connection with the University, which are critical to building and maintaining high achievement, leading a world of excellence in research and education and creating and developing great leaders now and of the future.

Our culture respects:

- Diversity and is committed to inclusion including through the process of reconciliation with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- Equal opportunity
- Academic Freedom
- Institutional autonomy
- Respectful debate
- Transparency, consultation and effective communication
- A safe and healthy University community
- Informed and evidence-based decision making
- Principles of procedural fairness

All University staff and honorary titleholders are required to comply with the Code of Conduct including behaving in a way which upholds the University values at all times. The Code is broad in application, it covers all circumstances when staff and honorary titleholders are performing duties and work related activities, including work functions, travel and conferences as a representative of the University of Adelaide.

A breach of the Code of Conduct may constitute misconduct and may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment or termination of an honorary title. For questions about the Code of Conduct, contact Human Resources on 8313 1111, the HR Service Centre or visit adelaide.edu.au/hr, or refer to the University's Staff Values and Behaviours Framework.

KAURNA ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We acknowledge and pay our respects to the Kaurna people, the original custodians of the Adelaide Plains and the land on which the University of Adelaide's campuses at North Terrace, Waite, and Roseworthy are built. We acknowledge the deep feelings of attachment and relationship of the Kaurna people to country and we respect and value their past, present and ongoing connection to the land and cultural beliefs. The University continues to develop respectful and reciprocal relationships with all Indigenous peoples in Australia, and with other Indigenous peoples throughout the world.
